

Some patients feel a slight pinch at the initial insertion of the acupuncture needle. This fades very quickly and gives rise to the unique sensations felt during acupuncture. Some patients are not aware that the needle has been inserted at all. Most patients are able to relax or nap during treatments.